

the recipe rock from architec™ a simple way to hold recipe pages so they are easy to read!!

The Recipe Rock was developed in response to the move away from traditional cookbooks, with so many cooks now reporting that they are abandoning their cookbooks for internet or magazine recipes and even supermarket cards.

The Recipe Rock is a simple but ingenious idea - a 2-inch rock and magnet that holds up to eight magazine pages. The pages stay upright so the recipes are easy to read. When not in use the Recipe Rock takes up minimum precious space on the work surface or in a cupboard!
